1) Preheat your oven to 325 degrees. Grease an 8 by 8 square pan with non stick cooking spray and line the bottom with parchment paper.

2) In a small bowl toss the apple slices with the lemon juice and set aside.

6) In a large bowl cream together the $\frac{1}{2}$ cup of butter and granulated sugar, add eggs, vanilla and orange zest and mix until creamy.

7) Add half of the dry ingredients and half of the milk and mix to combine, add the remaining dry ingredients and milk and just mix until everything is well incorporated and pour this batter over the apples making sure to spread it evenly.

8) Bake for 55 to 60 minutes and let cool for 15 minutes.

9) Place a plate upside down on the pan and turn plate and pan over to invert the cake right side up on the plate. Dust with powdered sugar and Enjoy!

If you love caramel apples and a fluffy spiced cake, than this is the recipe for you! I cant begin to describe how wonderful it makes your house smell and how comforting it is to bring it out to your guests with a cup of coffee or tea. Theres not one person I know that doesnt love this cake and who ever I give the recipe to always seems so shocked that its so easy to make. A lot of times making anything with the word caramel in it seems daunting, proper caramel needs to be tempered and no stirring and so many other finicky things but I dont have the time or the energy to deal with that. So this is totally fool proof and comes out perfect every single time. The orange zest is such a great thing to add to this because it really cuts the over sweetness and richness of it in a great way. And of course I make this cake a lot around the colder months and the combination of spices with orange zest for me is heavenly. I hope you and your family enjoys this cake as much as we do!
